FDA Says 'No Safety Signals' Linking White Blood Clots to COVID Shots, Despite Embalmer Survey Suggesting Otherwise

More than 70% of 269 embalmers surveyed found fibrous white blood clots — clots they weren't finding pre-pandemic — in significant percentages of corpses in 2023. The FDA said it hasn't seen any related safety signals and observations made on cadavers fall outside the agency's "regulatory purview."

White clots in people's arteries are "really happening" — so why isn't the phenomena being openly discussed in the public sphere? political commentator Russell Brand asked during a recent episode of his "Stay Free" podcast.

Brand showed viewers a clip of prominent medical commentator John Campbell, Ph.D., interviewing former Air Force Major Thomas Haviland.

Haviland conducted a 2023 survey of 269 embalmers across four major countries and three continents.

According to the survey, more than 70% of embalmers found strange fibrous white blood clots — clots they were not finding pre-pandemic — in significant percentages of corpses in 2023.

Haviland also conducted a similar survey in late 2022 that revealed 66% of embalmers began finding the unusual clots in mid-2021, suggesting a temporal link to the rollout of COVID-19 vaccines, which began earlier that year.

The topic is largely going undiscussed by mainstream news outlets, Brand said, although at least GB News interviewed Campbell to talk about the "white stringy rubbery clots."

"You're not really hearing it discussed to the degree that it perhaps ought," Brand said, "if it is as prevalent as is suggested."

For instance, Brand cited a Feb. 21 BNN Breaking article that reported Thai neurologist Dr. Thiravat Hemachudha had initially discussed the topic in a Facebook post — but swiftly chose to "cease public discussions on the topic."

Thiravat is chief of the Thai Red Cross Emerging Infectious Diseases Health Science Centre and a proponent of COVID-19 vaccines.

His post — which discussed white clots found in the carotid arteries of the deceased, particularly in people with a history of mRNA COVID-19 vaccination — suggested the clots might be connected to sudden deaths.

Thiravat included links to Campbell's videos about white clots in his post. Facebook's "independent fact checkers" and AFP Fact Check labeled Thiravat and Campbell's claims as false.

Thiravat responded by saying he would avoid publicly discussing white clots, that he'd already shared all the information he found useful, and that he still supported COVID-19 vaccines and was not part of an anti-vaccine group, Thaiger reported.

Brand suggested what happened to Thiravat seemed similar to what happened to other prominent doctors, such as Dr. Jay Bhattacharya and Dr. Robert Malone, who were suddenly cast as anti-vaxers "because they were dissenting voices."

Brand blames 'orthodoxies of condemnation and censure'

Brand said we're not seeing the issue of white clots being discussed "with the veracity and scientific understanding required" because there's so much "confusion, obfuscation and censorship" around COVID-19 and its vaccines.

"As society navigates these turbulent waters, the importance of critical thinking, open dialogue and reliance on credible sources of information becomes ever more apparent," he said.

Brand blamed "orthodoxies of condemnation and censure" for shutting down conversations.

"That's what power does to ensure its power is not challenged, so I think that the discipline of science was exploited during this period," he said. "That's why you can't have clear, open conversations around these subjects."

What's needed is the ability to listen to a host of diverse experts, Brand said.

CENSORED

So far, though, there's little evidence that U.S. public health officials are listening to embalmers' reports of white clots, let alone investigating their cause, according to Haviland.

In an interview with The Defender, Haviland said he sent his survey results on Jan. 9 to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, the U.S. Food Food and Drug Administration (FDA) and the National Institutes of Health.

As of Monday, he hadn't received a response, Haviland told journalist Sharyl Attkisson during an episode of "Full Measure."

Like Brand, Attkisson asked why there isn't more public discussion and investigation of issues like white clots that may be linked to the COVID-19 vaccines.

"For whatever reason," she told viewers, "America's health officials haven't seemed publicly interested in answering a crucial question: How many illnesses and deaths can be attributed to COVID versus the vaccines or some combination?"

When asked by "Full Measure" to comment on white clots, the FDA said:

> "The FDA and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) place a high priority on vaccine safety and are committed to our vaccine safety monitoring program. The FDA has not identified any safety signals for fibrous blood clots with COVID-19 vaccines."

The agency also said that since the observations were made on cadavers, it "falls outside of the FDA's regulatory purview," Attkisson added.

The FDA, a front group for Pharma given 75% of their budget comes from Pharma will not investigate something where they already know the answer if that answer points out a serious problem with the product.

FDA said "safe and effective." We know that the CDC hid 770 triggered safety signals for up to 2 years. The Covid shot was also not effective.

"The FDA said it hasn't seen any related safety signals and observations made on cadavers fall outside the agency's "regulatory purview.""

The FDA had no problem telling doctors not to use Ivermectin, even though they are not practicing medical doctors. The FDA had no problem rigging the Together Trial to fail. The FDA had no problem downplaying the seriousness of myocarditis, despite 67% needed medical intervention/hospitalization.

The FDA says observations on cadavers are outside their regulatory purview, but they are holding secret, a number of autopsies performed on those who died after a Covid shot. They have been making observations about the autopsies, which they are withholding from the public. The FDA is simply not trustworthy.

The more they lie and coverup, the more the public distrusts them. This is a good thing because they lose respect and authority. Sounds like there may be hope for a brighter future after all.

Yes indeed. However, I have seen huge swaths of people wake up to the corrupt medical system since the plandemic. To someone like me who has been completely distrustful of medicine for 24 years, canceled my insurance and chose a different path of prevention back then, this is truly a miracle.

Sad, isn't it? I left medical school many moons ago/ early 80's because my mentor and pathologist told me to change careers because medicine was tanking into an administrative shhole. It was the most heartbreaking decision I ever made and tormented me for years. Today, I am absolutely certain that I had the best mentor in the world! Thank goodness you made it to retirement.

My guess is it is easier to ignore a lie with the hope that the lie will magically change or disappear into the ethers of space, or, face the truth and then have to do the homework to back up ones need to know more of that truth.

For those with medical reasons not to be able to decipher truth from fiction, they have to be given a lot of slack with their poor decisions. But for those that are capable of functioning in society, relationships, there is no excuse not to be able to see the truth and make rational decisions....yet, they don't.

As successful as they may be in many areas, they lack a certain ability and/or willingness to think outside of their little boxes and ruffle up their illusionary visions of grandeur

Disturbing.

Sadly, I think people's pharma attachment is rooted in a very dysfunctional and sick society plagued with loneliness, fear and insurance. All 3 of those make us ill. It's so important now more than ever that people get mentally, spiritually and physically healthy and stop relying on industries that put profit before people's well being to care for them and make them happy. I really do live a very simple life, grow a lot of my own food and preserve it. I don't eat in restaurants, don't need very much to be happy and content. The only thing I wish I had was a spouse or partner who shared the same values and well, a dog. I really miss my dog.

Joseph Heller's Catch-22 comes to mind.
Because the clots are in "corpses" (are they afraid to say 'the dead'?) it's not their business.
So is it their business if the person is alive? Are they trying to avoid saying the clots were formed post-mortem because we'd all burst out laughing??
This is a total inversion of their agency mission. I hope they get undone. I'm past caring how, but they definitely have to go.

I agree with you. The FDA's statement makes no sense. If a there was a poison discovered in a bunch of jars of baby food which killed a lot of babies, would the FDA then claim that they cannot investigate because the babies are already dead?

Inversion in an upside down world. Veritas lacks gravitas anymore. It's typical and normal now to shun accountability, blame shift, pass the buck, redefine the rules and rhetoric and deceive without conscience. Maybe I'm wrong but it seems to me that the majority of our society possess these shameful characteristics. But we should note that it's only weak, cowardly and selfish people who behave this way. Those of us with integrity will bury them in their own lies. They really don't have any allies because those they perceive as allies will also destroy them in an effort to save themselves. There's absolutely nothing decent about these people.

Vaccine injuries are simply not allowed to exist. Therefore, they cannot be studied. In our current scientific, medical, and legal paradigms, we have no method or technique to prove any injury (including death) was caused by a vaccine. It is sometimes possible to prove an injury was caused by a vaccination - but not that it was caused by the vaccine. That's the current state of modern medicine and medical science. So... There's no point in research, there's nothing that can be found.

This should be no surprise to anyone who doesn't have their heads in the sand. They are all bought and paid for by Big Pharma, George Soros types, Bill Gates and The Elites. We have absolutely no representation by the many government agencies. When you think about the sheer difference in numbers and if we compare them to WE THE PEOPLE, we probably outnumber them 100 to1. If we love this country and all it has stood for we have to step up and let it be known that we will not continue to let this country be destroyed by the few who are leading the charge for this to happen. If we do not stand up this country will fall.

The FDA should consult with a well-known college football coach in Colorado about occluding blood clots and the resulting necrotic tissue. Apparently, he transitioned from one of the fastest humans in the world to limping up and down the sidelines.
Fortunately for him, they saved his leg. Many people, including children, weren't so lucky and lost their leg.

"THE COVID AGENDA YOU DECIDE?"
A video emerged where Fauci and others planned for a "Universal mRNA Flu Vaccine" which became the "COVID-19 mRNA Vaccine" because people were not afraid enough of the flu virus.
https://healthimpactnews.co...

The end goal was to get people to take the new gene therapy injections. Why? There's a lot more going on here than just making people sick and widdling down the population. They are installing 'self assembling nano particles' that form biocircuitry. Microsoft has a patent detailing the software that is used to connect humans to cell networks for digital currency. CBDC's. They are working to destroy cash so they can usher in digital currency. "Once cash is gone, freedom is gone".

"COVID was part of a plot to reduce the population and install network control over those who remain."

Watch this video. It shows the microsoft patent and reveals the unidentified MAC addresses being emitted by vaccinated humans.

How is it "outside the purview" of the FDA to investigate new findings in cadavers? The likelihood is that these people encountered some environmental toxicant that killed them. If that toxicant came from a food or drug, it should land squarely in FDA's "purview."

Yet another fairy tale by the fda. Question: If an alleged government agency is funded more than 50% by private money (big pharma) is it still a government agency? If it is then its just straight up fascism. Look up the definition bcuz it's the very definition of fascism. Why hide when it's all out in the open. Sgt Shultz on Hogans Hero's…

Two questions for the FDA: Where does cadaver bone come from, and where is it used?
The question also goes to Doctors and Hospitals.
I am reminded of the spread of HIV among hemophiliac patients.
Donor tissue, etc, needs to be of the best quality, and not make an otherwise healthy patient worse. That sounds fundamental to the mission statement of an FDA that exists to serve the public.

I argue you don't need to read any complex study. Just look at the pictures or videos of these clots. When you think "safe" is this the picture you have in your head?

If I was doing an ad campaign to try to stop these injections, I'd buy as many billboards as I can and put pictures of these clots on them. Apparently, THIS is what our government wants in the veins and arteries of hundreds of millions of citizens.

This hospital whistleblower says the worm-like white clots are being found in living patients “three to 10 times” a week at his hospital. 99 percent of the emergency clot-removal operations are among people who have been vaccinated, according to this important whistleblower.

Embalmer Richard Hirschman was the first embalmer to come forward and show multiple photos and vials of the actual substances (as well as “coffee ground” blood). Hirschman now has several videos of the clots being extracted.

There would be many more examples but half of all funerals are now cremations, he said. Also, embalmers aren’t finding all the clots in the embalming process, he said.

https://billricejr.substack...

These 2 stories should be enough to half the mRNA vaccines. Why won’t the CDC, NIH, FDA or state health agencies investigate these now copious claims?

As a life rule, if you distrust every government agency, the CDC (a private, for profit organization), the FED (not federal), the UN, WHO and WEF, you will be much better off. You do not have to consider and analyze everything they say, just don't believe any of it! So when they tweet you to get the bird flu shot (election year pandemic) and kill your livestock and pets, don't even think about it!
